THE WORK OF CONGRESS.

The coming session of Congress will begin work on the most important measures at once, and a large number of bills of urgent necessity, will be pressed upon the attention of both Houses as soon as the session is fairly organized. Time will be then gained, and, it is believed, instead of delaying important features of legislation until the last days of the session, the work will be mostly disposed of by the 4th of March, by making up the leading subjects the first week of assembling. His bill will fix the time for beginning the redemption, by way of illustration, in January 1871. He believes that before the time arrives greenbacks will be worth their face on a gold basis. He will oppose in the meantime any further contraction of the currency, believing that the contraction will take place by the act of redemption by cancelling such notes when presented for redemption. The time for beginning their redemption will not be insisted on by Governor Morton, some Congressmen being in favor of beginning in one year, others in three and still others in five years.

PROPOSED UNION OF POST OFFICE AND TRIEGRAPH.

Among matters that will be brought before Congress at an early day in the coming session is the question of uniting the Postoffice and telegraph. Mr. Ramssy has a bill for the Senate and E. B. Washburne for the House. The Senate bill looks to contracts between the Postmaster General and the telegraph companies for mail business. This scheme finds a good deal of favor in the East, and receives the support from the present Postmaster General and a good many members of Congress. It has been indorsed by the Board of Trade of Boston, and Mr. Hubbard, of that city, is now on his way West to present it before the Chicago Board of Trade on Boston, and Mr. Hubbard, of that city, is now on his way West to present it before the Chicago Board of Trade on Tuesday of this week; before the St. Louis Board on Friday or Saturday, and before the National Board, which meets at Cincinnait on Wednesday of next week. He has been to correspondence with members of Congress and others on the subject, and is accredited by the business men of Boston.

SUPPRAGE IN TENNESSEE The disfranchised masses of Tennessee have come to believe fully that there is nothing to be expected from the Legislature in the pected from the Legislature in the way of extending auffrage, and every body is now looking to other sources for relief. First it is hoped and believed that in December, when the franchise law comes before the Supreme Court of the United States, that body will declare it unconstitutional. Failing in this, the other alternative relied upon is the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States, guaranteeing manhood auffrage all around.

There will be a surplus of $1,100,000 on hand in the Michigan State Treasury at the end of the year.

Representatives Lynch, of Maine, in a letter to a gentleman in that city, announces his intention to call up, on the first day of the nextsession of Congress, his bill to provide against undue expansion and contractions of the currency. It contains the feature of a convertible bond, bearing small currency interest, exchangeable at the Treasury log greenbacks and vice versa.
